Sir:

In respect to the Office Letter mailed September 2005 please amend the above application as follows:

CLAIMS:

I claim:

1(amended). An apparatus comprising an enclosure [configured for receiving at least one electronic device], wherein the enclosure includes a plurality of elements providing a means of support or attachment to a means of external support.

5(amended). An apparatus comprising an enclosure with inter-connectible elements wherein each element means is capable of fitting within or mating with elements of [the first] other enclosure elements providing connection between enclosures.

Remarks:

Applicant has amended Claims 1 and 5 to more particularly define the invention in a patentable manner over the cited prior art. Claim 5 is further amended to be more clear in language as per
